School is cancelled as GC teachers strike

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With teachers striking this morning, the Granite City school district called off all of this week's scheduled classes.

Picketing by Local 743, American Federation of Teachers, blocked year-opening faculty workshops scheduled for today, as well as tomorrow's attendance by students.

TEACHERS MADE PLANS to attend a union rally later this morning.

The strike follows a bargaining session that lasted from about 2 to 11:30 p.m. Sunday at the district's administrative office at 20th and Adams streets.

Negotiations also were conducted Thursday and Friday, the first since Aug. 15. Local 743 members by a 223 to 37 vote Saturday authorized their committee to call the strike.

ISSUES BEING CITED by the local art salaries, insurance, class size, teacher seniority and pupil discipline.

The school system has contended that no funds are available to increase pay.

Officials cite the district's operating debt and its inability to project a positive revenue-spending balance for the current year—even though there were 1983-84 gains of $67,000 in the education fund and $160,000 in the building fund (surpluses of income over expenditures).

PAY HAS BEEN FROZEN at the 1982-83 level as part of the district's attempt to solve its "red ink" dilemma, which has prompted talk of possibly running out of both money and borrowing power before completion of the new school term.

One of the negotiators, Kelly Hogan of the Board of Education, on Friday took partial blame for the lack of an agreement.

Hogan said he had proposed to the teachers' committee salary raises that he now realizes the schools cannot afford to grant.

SHIRLEY STOLL, union president, said the teachers realize School District Nine is in financial trouble.

She added that some of the issues still unresolved do not involve any use of funds. The district indicated it was unwilling to settle such matters until there is a salary agreement, she said.

A school district spokesman said all issues have been discussed by the two sides during the bargaining.

No date has been set for resuming talks, but "Wednesday or later" is being described as the earliest that the three parties—including a federal mediator—could meet again.

THE SCHOOL BOARD last week called a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Topics are to include personnel, negotiations, school finances and the possibility of a special election Nov. 6 on issuing $6.6 million in working cash fund bonds.

A statement issued by school officials relates that "the union notified us of its intent to strike today. Teachers did not report for work this morning and they have set up picket lines."

"School is being called off for the rest of this week. At the best, we will have school on Tuesday, Sept. 4, for the students of District Nine. Notification will be given, in newspapers and on Radio Stations KMOX, WGN, KSD and KKOK. Workshops are being postponed for the time being.

"Further meetings with the union will be set up by the mediator."

THE BOARD BELIEVES that the union's action is not responsible. Several issues remain to be agreed upon, but we felt agreement might be possible after Tuesday night's (Aug. 28) board meeting.

"The board's team, therefore, requested that the strike not begin before then. The union rejected this suggestion."

Modern bridges termed crucial

Modernization of bridges that link St. Louis to the Illinois system of interstate highways was called important to the future development of Madison and St. Clair counties during a development luncheon in the area Thursday.

Approximately 80 business leaders, commercial and real estate developers, bankers and others were hosted by the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois, Regional Commerce and Growth Association, Tri-City Area Chamber of Commerce's Economic Development Committee and other development groups Thursday for the luncheon.

JOINING THOSE at the luncheon were approximately 35 developers and bankers who took a bus tour of promising spots for development in Madison and St. Clair Counties.

The morning tour included the Tri-City Regional Port and nearby

Northgate Industrial Park on Route 3 and other sites. An afternoon tour of additional properties with development promise followed the luncheon.

At the luncheon in the Collinsville Holiday Inn Thursday, James M. O'Flynn, president of the RCGA, predicted, "As we move toward completion of I-255, you are going to see developers from West St. Louis County and St. Charles (Mo.) looking here. They're out of land. I-255 puts them in close proximity to the entire St. Louis region."

CARL MATHIAS of Granite City, president of the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois, urged the Illinois developers and investors to act first. "If you don't see the opportunity here and take advantage of it and start doing things to enhance the economic growth of the area, it isn't going to happen," he said.

Mathias called for unity between developers on both sides of the Mississippi River and orderly planning for the development of the Interstate-255 corridor before spotty unplanned development occurs.

I-255, when completed, will extend from the Jefferson Barracks Bridge in Monroe County to Interstate 270 near the entrance to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. That will complete the interstate loop around St. Louis and make this area easy to reach from most parts of St. Louis.

THE DECAYING bridge network, however, is a major problem. John R. Bauer, president of Bauer Brothers Construction Co. in Belleville, put his finger on it when he told a reporter, that if anything

Molten steel dumped at GC Steel; no injuries reported

A problem in a batch of molten steel in a ladle in the basic oxygen furnace at Granite City Steel resulted in the batch being dumped into a pit at 11:55 p.m. Thursday, resulting in some damage, but no injuries.

The Granite City Fire Department was summoned to assist Granite City Steel's firefighters as the intense radiant heat and sparks from the 235 tons dumped in the east pit burned up a crane cab and caused some other damage.

A SPOKESMAN for Granite City Steel said a "breakout" occurred in a BOF vessel requiring the decision to pour the batch into the pit rather than into normal vessels. He said he did not know the nature of the emergency which caused the "breakout."

His initial report was that there were "no injuries and no property damage of any significance."

Granite City firefighters said, however, that the intense heat and flying sparks caused some concern and that a nearby crane cab was damaged by the heat.

GRANITE CITY'S firefighters were commended by the Granite City Steel spokesman "for their fast response and good work." The city sent three fire trucks which were on the scene for two hours.

Port open house winners named

More than 2,000 people took advantage of the Tri-City Regional Port District's 50th anniversary open house to tour the port, to ride a replica of an 1830 steam locomotive and passenger train, to visit the Norfolk & Southern Rail Exhibit Car, to compare modern and older bulk loading trucks and equipment, to tour Locks 27 and to win prizes.

Of those attending the open house, approximately 960 boarded the replica of the "Best Friend of Charleston," for a ride through the harbor area and some 1,300-plus people visited the simultaneous open house at Locks No. 27.

Every visitor to the port Saturday was eligible to enter a drawing for 28 free prizes, donated by local merchants. A drawing was conducted at 4 p.m. Saturday and winners were announced.

Evah Nichols and Michelle Coltrell won color television sets, Albert Hall won a microwave oven and Roy Jones won a boy's bicycle.

Winners of weekends for two at the Collinsville Hilton Inn were Gary Woods and Tim Mosby. Fifteen dollar Clark gasoline certificates were won by Donald Mana, H.M. Scherrills, Scott Haase, Jennifer Ridenour, William Bequette and Cheryl Dahmm and John Schwab

AT&T to send separate bills for phone leasing

AT&T customers living in Illinois who lease telephones for their homes or businesses will begin receiving separate bills for this service on Sept. 1. Previously, all equipment charges for AT&T leased telephones were included in the monthly bills coming from the local telephone company.

Although the charges on the bill will remain the same, AT&T has established different billing cycles. Customers leasing one or two telephones will now receive a bill for the equipment only once each quarter. Those leasing three or more phones, or who have monthly charges of $12 or more, will continue to receive a bill each month.

The bill changes in Illinois are part of AT&T's nationwide billing conversion program. "Nationally, it's the most massive records conversion and data processing endeavor in the history of American business," said Dan Bastain, AT&T's manager at the Champaign location. "The recent modernization of 36 million Social Security records took the Federal Government about five years. In comparison, we will convert nearly twice as many accounts in about one-third the time."

More than 200 million records contained in 26 different billing systems, 87 revenue accounting offices and 52 billing data centers are involved in the national conversion.

The face of the new bill has payment instructions plus a toll-free number, 1-800-555-8111, that customers may use should they have any questions about their bills.

14 July highway deaths in region

During July, 131 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents on Illinois highways, including 14 in this region.

Statewide total fatalities for the first seven months of 1984 are 792, a decrease of 43 compared with the same period last year.

In the five-county area District 11 covers, the 14 fatalities in July were an increase of three compared to July of last year.

District 11 fatalities for the first seven months of this year are 54, up two.

Captain Bobby L. Henry Sr., commander of District 11, Collinsville said, "Drinking and driving, speeding, improper maneuvers, and inattention are only a few of the many factors which can cause an accident. If each driver would put forth a little extra effort, traffic accidents could be greatly reduced."

Henry reminded motorists that school will be starting soon. "Be especially alert for the buses and the children. Remember, a moment of careless driving can mean a lifetime of regret," he commented.

ALCOHOL, TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS ALLEGED

After spotting a car allegedly being driven south on Missouri Avenue without headlights this month, an officer stopped the driver Rodney W. Knott, 24, of 2412 Ohio Ave., at West 22nd Street and Illinois Avenue.

It was alleged a open can of beer was on the floorboard, two unopened cans of beer were visible and a cooler in the back seat contained three additional cans.

Knott was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol, driving without headlights and driving while his license is suspended.

Charge driver of car in port authority pursuit

Associate Judge Nicholas G. Byron last week released Jimmy D. Poe Jr., 19, of 2204 Edison Ave., on his own recognizance after Poe appeared in court on a warrant alleging reckless conduct and eight traffic charges. Recognizance does not require the posting of cash bond.

The charges resulted from an incident occurring Aug. 12 in which he allegedly fled from a car being chased by officers in the vicinity of the Tri-City Regional Port Authority. It is alleged his driving endangered the safety of passengers in the auto.

Poe also appeared Friday, Aug. 17, before Judge Byron and pleaded guilty to all charges, including reckless conduct, fleeing and attempt to elude police, disobeying a traffic control device, driving while his license was revoked, improper lane usage and disobeying four stop signs.

At that time, Poe was released on recognizance to return Monday for sentencing, but was subsequently released again pending a later docket call at which an assistant state's attorney and a police officer will be present, a court spokesman advised.

About half way down a line of box cars, what sounded like a gunshot was heard and the pursuing officer fired one round at the vehicle, resulting in the driver slamming on the brakes.

Two men ran behind the boxcars toward the levee road, reports said. The area was searched by officers and the Illinois State Police K-9 unit, but the men who had fled were not located.

A man and woman remained with the vehicle and were charged with unlawful possession of alcohol. They were released on notice to appear for a hearing.

About 40 minutes later, Jeffrey D. Gean, 18, of 3202 Arlington Drive, was taken into custody at Nevada and Denver avenues. He pleaded guilty Aug. 13 to unlawful possession of cannabis and improper use of a registration. He was fined $100 plus costs, given until October to pay and was released.

CHARGE STAUNTON MAN WITH RESISTING ARREST

Told by a woman that someone had accosted her outside Lenny's Tavern, 2000 Illinois Ave., officers saw a man run from the lot, vault a fence and continue running toward an alley.

The same man, identified as Larry D. Turner, 29, of Staunton, later was found lying on the ground between two addresses in the 2000 block of Illinois Avenue.

Again, he jumped a fence and ran pursued on foot by an officer, police said. While fleeing, Turner knocked down two people standing near the tavern, it was alleged, and then fell himself and was captured.

Turner was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

DENIES BATTERING WOMAN

Darrell Buettner, 25, Rural Route Two, pleaded innocent of battery in a recent court hearing in Granite City and was transferred to the Madison County jail in lieu of $2,000 bond. It was alleged that he broke a window and beat and threatened 36 Ann Sturdivant, 2204 Hodges Ave. Inflicting ankle, arm and neck

Bridges

happens to the Poplar Street Bridge now, "the whole world stops."

Sources have indicated that authorities are beginning to eye McKinley Bridge as a bridge which, in an upgraded form, could be in important cog in the transportation network knitting together the entire St. Louis metropolitan area.

O'Flynn addressed the concern of developers that not much has happened in the Metro-East area in recent years and changes could be slow. "The region is coming out of a rather serious recession and, quite candidly, there wasn't a hell of a lot going on in economic development in the last two or three years. The key today is the future," he said.

THE TOUR was the second hosted by ICCA's Task Force and the Leadership Council. The first tour in May concentrated on acquainting Missouri developers and bankers with investment and growth opportunities in this part of Illinois. Thursday's tour, on the other hand, was to acquaint Illinois developers with opportunities in their own back yards.

O'Flynn said the first tour was "tremendously successful" and said he still is receiving inquiries from developers. Some sources said the decision by the Forsythe Group Inc. of Clayton to build a luxury apartment complex and shopping mall on Route 159 south of Fairview Heights was influenced by the May tour.

James Pennekamp, executive director of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, also said he feels the May tour was a success and hopes some projects will be announced in the near future as a result of the ongoing effort to promote the land, labor and transportation advantages this area offers.

Mayor to explore plan for more CD money

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler told city council members last week that he will investigate a plan which could give the city a larger share of Community Development (CD) money.

Alderman Sharon Perjak said she received a booklet entitled "Community Development Digest," put out by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) which outlines the amount of CD funds which different cities would have received, had they been entitled cities. According to the booklet, Granite City would have received more than $700,000 of CD funds had it been an entitlement city.

This represents $400,000 more than the city received from the Madison County Community Development office.

Mayor Schuler said that the city explored the possibility of becoming an entitlement city several years ago but found that there were "no guarantees" of CD funds under the program. "We were told we would be put into a state pool and would be vying for funds with many more cities," he said.

He also said that under the entitlement program, the city would have to perform all of the county administrative duties, which would cost the city at least $100,000. "We had no information at the time that there was the possibility for a large amount of extra funds," he said.

Alderman Carl Kuttel warned aldermen that the HUD report may tend to make things look better for entitlement programs than they really are. "There's a lot of talk in that HUD report," he contended.

Alderman Sam Whitmer agreed that the city should be leary of such a program. "When you're dealing with the state and HUD, they tell you what to do with the money, not the other way around," he said. "The county people are like homefolks and they understand us."

Schuler said he appreciates the concern expressed, but said the program is worth checking into. "If for nothing else, we sure could use the money for our sewer break repairs," he said.

APARTMENT BLAZE

A child playing with a cigarette lighter apparently was responsible for a minor fire in the bedroom of his home at 31 Gareche Homes, Madison, at 4:45 p.m. Friday. No loss was reported from the blaze, which was extinguished by Madison firefighters.

Schools—both sides have merit

School bells will ring for most Quad-City area students this week, except in Granite City, where teachers are striking.

We will not attempt to comment here on the relative merits of both sides while talks are continuing, except to say that a good case can be made either way.

The teachers, who have not had a raise in two years, obviously deserve one. To say they are not entitled to a raise of three percent, or five, or even seven percent would be unfair.

The school district, which is in dire financial straits, says it would like to give raises, but just can't. From our own discussions around town, we sense that to give teachers a raise at this point would be to doom the proposed $6.6 million working cash fund bond issue which is to be on the November election ballot. The district realizes this, which puts even more pressure on the schools to avoid giving raises, which the public might see as coming from the bond issue, even though that is not the intent of the working cash fund bonds.

To the credit of both sides, neither has pushed, as far as we know, for binding arbitration, which is allowed by a new state law legalizing strikes by public employees. The new law is a bad one and should be changed as soon as possible.

Binding arbitration allows an arbitrator—who was not elected and does not have to answer to the taxpayers—to decide how much of our money will be paid to the employees. As we have stated over and over, we elect public officials to do that job and we can vote them out if they do not do it to the public's satisfaction. An arbitrator cannot be voted out and should have no part in deciding how our tax dollars are spent.

The law says that once both sides agreed to binding arbitration, school would open and continue while the arbitration was underway. We sincerely hope the two sides do not yield to this method of getting the schools opened.

We hope the teachers and the school district can continue negotiating responsibly, with a sincere understanding of each other's situation, and an accord can be reached so school can open after Labor Day and continue through the end of the school year without running out of money.

Development tours worthwhile

Congratulations are again in order for organizers of "Developers' tour of prospective growth sites in Madison and St. Clair counties. To some, the tours and luncheons may seem like a waste of money, but from our viewpoint, they have been worthwhile.

The first tour was in May and attracted numerous Missouri developers and bankers. A decision by the Forsythe Group Inc. of Clayton to build a neighborhood shopping mall and luxury apartment complex on Route 139 south of Fairview Heights followed and other inquiries are reported still flowing in from that tour.

Thursday, Illinois developers and bankers were hosted for a bus tour of promising sites and reported being impressed with the opportunities "in their own backyards" of which they were unaware. That was a good idea. From our own experience, it is more likely that Illinois developers will seriously consider building here than Missouri developers who tend to think of Illinois as a wasteland.

We cannot change the Missouri image of Illinois overnight, but tours such as the May one are a start. Missouri developers reported being impressed with what they saw.

Such one-to-one meetings and sharing of information can go a long way toward changing the attitude of Missourians and promoting this area, which is rich in available ground, labor, materials and which is serviced by one of the best transportation systems in the nation.

Congratulations are in order to the Leadership Council of Southern Illinois, the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association, the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce's Economic Development Committee, Dr. Robert Koepke of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and other individuals and local development groups who have put the tours together. We hope the tours continue and numerous local and regional projects stem from them.

Strike

Pres. Shirley Stoll told the Press-Record at 10 a.m. today that the local last night proposed a salary freeze for 1984-85 but the district's negotiators declined to agree.

Along with the salary issue, I believe the main points remaining are seniority, discipline, sick leave and insurance," she commented.

"WE TRIED REAL hard yesterday, meeting for more than nine hours. But we found out that the board's team did not have the authority to reach an agreement. We understand they were polled the board by telephone."

"If view of the board, we did not feel that we could delay longer. But we would like to meet with the board and settle this as soon as possible."

The chronology of events has included:

A NOTICE of intent to strike as of today was filed five days ago, Aug. 22, with District Nine, the regional school superintendent and the new Illinois Education Labor Relations Board.

Both sides met with Charles Riley of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, from 11 a.m. to about 5 p.m. Friday and again Sunday for more than nine hours.

Riley, of the St. Louis office, has agreed to remain as the federal government's mediator for the District Nine talks, but points out that he has other commitments which will not allow him to be continually available here.

When MEMBERS of Local 743 met Saturday to discuss the negotiations, they empowered the local bargaining committee to formally call a strike.

The previous working agreement that had formed the basis for discussions of various revisions in 1984-85 expired after Aug. 14.

The 29-page 1983-84 pact set annual pay in the 14th year, and a pension payment for teachers with a bachelor degree, ranging up to $28,444 and $2,234 for those with a master degree and 190 or more college credit hours.

MOST TEACHERS in the district are at the maximum pay level. First-year pay is $13,923 cash and a pension payment of $1,211 for teachers with a bachelor degree, ranging up to $15,224 and $1,251 for a master degree and 190 or more college credit hours.

The five-column salary schedule also includes bachelor degrees with 150 or more credit hours, bachelor degrees with 175 or more hours, and master degrees.

POINTS COVERED in the expired agreement include: accumulated absences, acting principals, after-school functions, exclusive bargaining agent, classroom interruption, substitutions, collection of money, emergency leave, employment requirements.

And extracurricular pay, grievance procedures, homebound teachers, identification cards, immunization, improvement of instructional program, insurance, job consideration, monthly meetings with administration, opening negotiation procedures, non-discrimination.

Also, non-teaching hours, normal school year, normal teaching assignment, nurses, payment of salaries, payroll, classroom of class, professional improvement, public information, recall of honorably dismissed teachers, sabbatical leaves, pay schedule.

And scheduling of pupils, school mail service, adoption of school policies, sick leave, supervision, tax-sheltered annuity, tax sheltering for extra compensation, teacher-administrator conferences, teacher personnel records, agreement termination and renewal, and vocational shop teachers.

SINCE THE BOARD ended the job of Harold E. Hillmer, employee relations administrator, the district's negotiating committee for certificated employees has consisted of:

Terry M. Salem, personnel administrator, committee spokesman; Pres. David Parney and Treas. Kelly Hovay, members of the Board of Education; Supt. Frank Kraus; Michael Sikora, Coldridge Junior High School principal; Warren Collins, Webster School principal who also directs several other school district programs; and Harold Baker, the district's special labor attorney.

The Local 743 Salary and Policy Committee consists of: MIKE HADE, an Illinois Federation of Teachers field representative; Shirley Stoll, president of the local; Larry Talbert, first vice president; Loretta Woodrigh, recorder-secretary; Tom Turner, treasurer; and Dick Huff and Gene Gunderson, teachers.

Attorney Ray Freark serves on the committee on an as-needed basis but has not been active this summer in the District Nine bargaining.

In a letter addressed to the president and members of AFT Local 743, handed to the Salary and Policy Committee on Friday, School Treasurer Hogan said:

"In view of some things that have happened and have been said recently, I want to set the record straight."

"LAST MAY, I suggested, unofficially and informally, the possibility of increasing teachers' pay by five percent for 1984-85 and an additional seven percent for the next year."

"I understand that the story of that alleged offer has gotten 'all around town.' I disclaim responsibility therefor."

"In fact, my good personal friend, Harold Baker, our special labor attorney, didn't even know about the matter until earlier this (last) week."

"I WAS NAIVE in believing it wouldn't leak, even though it was made in an agreed 'off the record' discussion."

"I made this suggestion without having that, or any other, authority from the Board of Education."

He has been the board majority's principal spokesman on revising the administrative staff, outlining school issues and problems, and setting up a committee of parents, citizens, school personnel and business leaders to plan for short-term and five-year school district needs.

"NOR DID I HAVE the votes. But my colleague, Board President Dave Partney, and I thought we could get them," Hogan continued.

"I wasn't even certain where the money would come from if you (Local 743) accepted."

"But I sincerely felt that the board, you, parents, students, taxpayers—everyone—was fed up with late-summer crisis negotiations and the delayed opening of school due to teachers' strikes—five or six in the last 15 years."

"I WANTED A SUMMER of content, not discontent."

"My suggestion was conditioned on acceptance by both parties by June 1, 1984, to achieve my goal stated above. For reasons beyond my control, that didn't happen."

"It's probably just as well it didn't. Because of recent events, we don't and won't have that kind of money."

Red Sea Mining

The news of numerous oil tankers, cargo and other ships being damaged by mines in the Middle East's Red Sea has prompted a multi-national force to sweep the area so it may be safe for shipping. The United States is one of those nations responding to the Red Sea area, which is one of the most widely used shipping lanes in the world. Parsons shopping at Crossroads Plaza recently were asked if they thought the U.S. should be one of the nations sweeping the area and which nation might be behind the mining. Their reactions follow:

Ralph McKinney, Granite City

"I think the United States has interests everywhere, although personally, I'm not so sure we should be there. As for who's behind the mining, I'm don't think it's (Iranian leader Ayatollah) Khomeini. I don't think he's got control of anything. It could possibly be (Libyan President) Khadafi though."

Carol Canady, Granite City

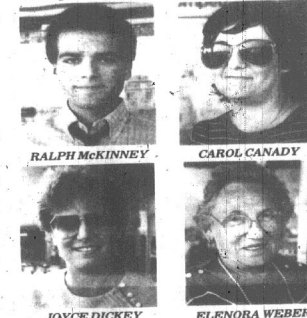

"Yes, I do think we have every reason to be there. It's international water and besides the mining, its interfering with free trade. It's possible that Khomeini is behind the mining, but at this point I think that's just speculation. That being an oil-rich area I think has a lot to do with our responding."

Joyce Dickey, Granite City

"No, I'm not sure that we should be there. Although, the mining is causing an international situation. I think someone should respond, but I don't know if it always has to be the United States. As for who's responsible, I don't know if there's enough proof to say anyone's responsible."

Elenora Weber, Venice

"If it's a question of guaranteeing the safety of human lives, yes, I think we should be there. After all, the Red Sea and the (Suez) canal is an international thoroughfare. As Americans, we should help clear the way for shipping. It's the humanitarian thing to do. As for who's responsible, I think it's President Khadafi."

Defends federal civil retirement program

To the Editor,

Reference your comments as to the Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS). In your statement, national debt must be reduced.

This is a noble comment, and it will increase the readership by those unknown souls in your audience. Beyond this possibility, we detect an element of jealousy intrigue coupled with a more surface fact of an unwarranted outcry.

Before we get to the dollar figure as cited by the OPM (Office of Personnel Management), let us proceed in a more straight forward manner.

Those who usually yell the loudest about getting the government off their backs and who accept blatant distortion of facts, are also those who yell the loudest for a strong defense, and we expect nine out of 10 of these do not understand what is a strong defense.

The political scene is replete with use who are aware that most people do become emotional about those things which they know next to nothing about. That is why the OPM cites a long list of debt numbers.

With respect to a strong defense, we do hope you and your readers are aware that to have a strong defense requires a large number of people—civilian and uniformed personnel.

A strong defense department requires the major part of the federal government employees. Since the prime focus of our note is the Civil Service Retirement System, it is suggested that the defense department be operated by uniformed personnel.

We are nearing the 21st century. Therefore, to recruit, retain and, yes, retire the highest caliber of personnel does necessitate a system equal to or better than private commerce (please refer to the so-called "Unlimited points of mis-facts, distortions, mis-speaks and numerous other illogical statements to appease the misguided souls who are now in charge of our federal government).

You can't be advocating the elimination of civil government agencies. Many people do that until there is some pressing need in the area of their concern. Then they are the first in line to get the federalists to do something.

For example, would you wish to eliminate the Civil Aeronautics Administration, the Commerce Department, the Center for Disease Control or dozens of other vital ongoing organizations — all operated by civilians?

How long do you think our form of government would last without these civilians? Or do you advocate they be paid in kind for years of prior neglect to completely forget the retirement system, too?

Many are not aware that for nearly 40 years, 1950-1980, the federal government failed to match employee contributions to the retirement fund. How does this fit as related to an unfunded liability?

The attempt to transfer the lack of action, on the part of misback legislators, to the employee-retiree does appear one-sided. This, too, is a fact the current misback administration seems to pass along as gospel.

Congress, finally, during the year 1969, took some — (inadequate to say the least) — action to correct longstanding errors on its part.

Such remedies as were provided came about during a period of high inflation. It was a combination of redressing 40 years of prior neglect which accounts for the high rate of contributions on the part of the U.S., because the employee had paid his or her contribution many years ago.

Grateful for solving burglaries

To the Editor,

We, the residents of the Granite City housing project (Anchorage Homes), express our appreciation to each member of the Granite City Police Department for their courteous and prompt response to a call for help.

To know the police officers are patrolling this area 24 hours a day gives each one a more secure feeling when our homes were being broken into and burglarized.

It is a very responsible job and we realize how busy each officer is, trying to keep law and order in a city with the population as large as Granite.

We can be so thankful we live in America and can enjoy freedom.

Milton for his kindness.

GC parks dropped by workmen's comp. carrier

Fidelity and Guaranty Insurance Co., has informed the Granite City Board of Park Commissioners that the company will no longer cover its Workmen's Compensation Insurance effective as of Oct. 14, Frank Rea, board secretary, reported at a meeting last week.

In view of the situation, Rea said that he has enlisted the assistance of Tom Kieley to find another insurance carrier and inform the board of his findings at a later meeting.

In other business, the board members agreed to renew its membership in the National Recreational and Park Association at a cost of $250 for the year, and approved the request for annexation of property located at 3404 Johnson Road into the park district, as requested by owners, Mr. and Mrs. David McFarland.

Board members also agreed to join other taxing bodies in Granite City and Nameoki Township in sharing the cost of a local reassessment of Granite City Steel, a division of National Steel Corp. The request was granted after a request was read from Attorney William W. Schooley.

Others involved in seeking a reassessment of property of the local steel plant are Community Unit School District 9, the city of Granite City, Madison County, Metro-East Sanitary District, Granite City Township, Nameoki Township and Belleville Area College District 522.

It was agreed between the parties involved that the expenses will be proportioned to each taxing body in accordance with the ratio of the amount of taxes received by the taxing body to the total amount of property taxes paid by Granite City Steel during the year 1983 for the taxing year of 1982.

The group also agreed that the appraisal will be performed by Real Estate Analysis Corp., by William J. Townsley.

Townsley is a member of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers, International Association of Assessing Officers, a certified Illinois assessing officer, real estate broker, and is certified through Dec. 31, 1986, with the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

The meeting last week was recessed until 6 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 29, and the commissioners will conduct a public hearing on the resolution for Truth in Taxation Act at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 5, with a regular session scheduled for Wednesday, April 12.

Autos drag racing on Madison alleged

While patrolling on Madison Avenue at 11:25 p.m. Friday, an officer alleged seeing two vehicles drag racing from the traffic signal light at 20th Street and activated the siren car's red lights.

One auto, a Monte Carlo, went into the Sonic Gas Station, 1817 Madison Ave., while the second car, a Chevrolet, continued south on Madison Avenue and was stopped at 16th Street.

He was charged with drag racing, illegal transportation of alcohol, unlawful possession of cannabis and resisting arrest.

Meanwhile, another officer arrested Van Lee Kalyan, 19, of 2125 Delmar Ave., driver of the car which went into the service station.

GC to refund retainer fees from city ambulance contracts

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

Because of what Granite City Alderman Sam Whitmer termed as the city's "moral obligation," the city's ambulance billing clerk is preparing a final accounting of ambulance contracts with six municipalities.

The accounting, if approved by the city council, will involve a city give-back of retainer fees paid for ambulance service and payment by the municipalities of their resident's outstanding bills.

"THE CITY HAD been involved in an ambulance contract with Venice, Madison, Ponton Beach, Venice Township, Chouteau Township and Nameoki Township from 1978 until August 1983.

In 1982, Granite City established a yearly retainer fee system, whereby the municipalities were held responsible for paying an amount up front, to "make up" for customers who were on Public Aid. These customers were considered a liability, since Public Aid would only pay a percentage of the ambulance expense and Granite City had to pick up the remainder of the costs. The retainer fee did not free the municipalities from their obligation to pay for bills that their residents would not pay. The towns were given a bill they were to pay, then, they in turn, were to collect the money from delinquent users.

THE RETAINER fee was arrived upon based on the population of each municipality and the frequency of calls in that area.

But problems arose when three municipalities — Chouteau Township, Nameoki Township and Ponton Beach — refused to pay the retainer.

When Granite City suggested a rate hike for service in 1983, all of the townships pulled out of the agreement. Since then, the townships and Ponton Beach village have either relied on Campbell Ambulance Service or Madison Ambulance Service.

THE THREE municipalities which did not pay the retainer fee were taken to court for payment in September 1983. But, according to City Attorney John Papa, the court ruled in favor of the municipalities, saying that the city did not have the right to change their contract with the municipalities by charging a retainer fee.

Papa said that the court's action did not direct the city to return the money that had already been paid by the other towns. He also noted, that at least one town had paid the retainer fee for two years.

But Whitmer, chairman of the ambulance committee, said he feels a repayment of the money is "the only fair thing to do."

WHITMER ALSO said he hopes to gain a payment of outstanding bills from the municipalities. "If they (the municipalities) won't pay us, we'll leave it up to the city attorney to collect it," he said. "I just want to get this thing cleared up," he said. "I want this thing to be over."

Venice schools set public hearing on tentative budget

By RACHEL NEWSOME
of the Press-Record

The Venice School Board will conduct a final public hearing prior to the adoption of this year's budget. The hearing will be Sept. 27 at 7 p.m. The budget now is available at the school board office to be viewed by the public.

Tom Vickers, superintendent of schools, told the school board last week of a loss of 17 Chapter 1 students. The state, in a letter to Vickers, revealed boundary mistakes in last year's report of Chapter 1 qualifiers. "I want to see if they will give us the 17 addresses to see if those people pay taxes in other school districts. If they won't give them to us, I would recommend we take legal action. I think we have a right to be allowed to use school facilities," said Vickers. The board agreed.

The board also approved an agreement to lease three classrooms to the Illinois start program for $2,000 per year. The agreement is for three years, with two one year options available.

Resolutions approved by the board included continuing a Tri-City YM-CRA swimming program for the grade four elementary students. The program, which will cost the district $770, began last year. "It was well received and 100 percent of the kids participated," reported Vickers. The Boys Scouts of America will be allowed to use school facilities, Thursday, Sept. 20 for their annual Scouting Night, to their board decision.

In other business, Clinton Harris, basketball and volleyball coach at Venice High School, will represent the Venice school district at the Illinois Gateway Conference meeting and Clifford Mathews, a former student of Venice High School, will be representing direction signs and parking decals at the high school for $192.

City okays computer purchase

Granite City aldermen gave approval last week, to City Comptroller Joe Miklovic to purchase a personal computer for his office.

Sam Whitmer, chairman of the finance committee, said that the comptroller had budgeted $10,000 for computer equipment and the new computer would cost $2,000. He said the city would purchase the computer through cooperation with Granite City School District to save money.

Miklovic said the new computer will enable him to better calculate the city's cash flow situation, has the capability of giving him an indication of any forthcoming financial difficulties, will aid him in fixed asset records.

Alderman Sharon Perjak asked if the new computer would tie in with the NCR 81-50 computer that is presently in the comptroller's office.

Miklovic replied that a computer that will tie in with the NCR system will cost $12,000. He further stated that he is not sure that the present computer will last much longer.

He said the computer is suffering from software malfunctions and that the company which manufactures the computer will not stand behind the outdated software any longer.

The computer, which was bought by the city in 1979, is considered to be obsolete because of the new computer advances.

Miklovic said if the software is no longer useable, the computer will not be able to function. He said a new computer would cost between $60,000 and $100,000.

The comptroller was directed by the finance committee to investigate several avenues, in case the current computer does break down.

Options included replacing the computer, leasing a computer or going through a service bureau such as McDonnell Douglas Corporation, whereby the city could hook-up to their computers.

Whitmer suggested that budgeting for a new computer be placed next to the year's appropriation ordinance. "If the (computer) dies, just bury the thing," he said. "If the computer was in this kind of a state, money have been in this year's budget."

IDOT investigates intersection hazard

Granite City Alderman Jake Varadian told city council members Tuesday night that Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) representatives have investigated the traffic hazard at the intersection of Illinois Route 3 and Niedringhaus Avenue (the dangerous intersection was spotlighted by a front page Press-Record editorial Aug. 9).

Varadian said that he, Charles Colman and George Adamson, both of IDOT, and several other city officials viewed the intersection Monday. "While we were standing there, a tractor-trailer came over the overpass and tried to stand at the red light, but skid through it," he said. "So the people from IDOT were aware of the seriousness of the situation."

HE SAID THAT IDOT took several traffic studies while they were there and have made four suggestions on how to alleviate the problem.

The first remedy will be to synchronize the light on Route 3 so that, if a vehicle gets a green light at one intersection, it will get a green light at all of the intersections.

A second measure will be to put a "high intensity flashing beacon at the top of the overpass, to alert traffic that there is a signal light coming up."

THE THIRD suggestion is to allow the amber light on Route 3 to shine longer than usual. When this light turns red, the light at Niedringhaus also will remain red for a few seconds.

Another safeguard will be to place an electric eye on the crest of the overpass. If the light is ready to turn yellow, a tractor-trailer approaching the intersection will trigger a magnetic device so that the light will remain green until he is through the intersection.

Acting City Engineer Schulze said that, although the intersection is hazardous, there has not been a large number of collisions there. "But the ones that have occurred there have been severe," he said. He said that IDOT has not yet set up a schedule for the changes at the intersection.

A short time later, Taylor's vehicle was halted on Maryville Road at Route 162 and the motorist was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

$29.7 million more for Ill. highways released

Senator Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) has announced that Illinois will receive $29.7 million more than expected this year in federal funds for highway projects in the state. The money was released last week by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) at Percy's request.

"It's tremendous that Illinois was one of the few states to receive the full amount of money we requested from the FHWA," Percy said. "The funds will be used for projects under construction now or in the fall, which means that the results from these federal dollars will be felt soon."

The money comes from a reallocation of FHWA funds from states that have not been able to use the full amount of federal highway funds they were allotted by the end of the fiscal year (Sept. 30). FHWA allocations these funds to states, like Illinois, that make applications demonstrating that they can use additional federal highway funds immediately.

After the state of Illinois filed its application, officials there requested Percy's assistance in obtaining the full amount of their application. Percy then contacted the FHWA to back the request.

The federal highway funds are part of the Highway Trust Fund which was created by the 1982 Surface Transportation Assistance Act. "Today's award is just one more example of how Illinois has benefited from this law. It has created more jobs and financed more projects in the state than anyone could expect," Percy said.

During the next four years Illinois is slated to receive $4.6 billion in federal highway funds from the 1982 law.

Simon to be honored at SIU-C event

Illinois Congressman Paul Simon (D-Makanda) will be feted Tuesday, Aug. 29, at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale for his role in helping to establish SIU-C's Carbondale-based Coal Technology Laboratory.

The ceremony is scheduled at 9 a.m. in the Student Center Ballroom B, and is open to the public.

As a member of the House Committee on Science and Technology, Simon sponsored legislation that provided SIU-C $1.5 million to conduct coal research and to operate and maintain the U.S. Department of Energy's Mining Technology Center in Carbondale. The agreement was formalized in June 1983.

Research at SIU-C's coal laboratory centers on the removal of sulfur before coal is burned, converting coal to a liquid or gaseous fuel and taking out the sulfur in the process and capturing the sulfur in the combustion process.

CHARGE MAN DRIVES RECKLESSLY IN LOT

The vehicle and driver were returned to McDonald's and identified, with Mahereck subsequently being charged with reckless driving. He posted his driver's license as a bond and was released to appear for a hearing Sept. 28.

A Sports Special

For Parker, football's more than just a sport

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

Granite City's sports teams have set some fantastic winning records. Its wrestling and soccer teams have been the envy of many area towns and high schools not only in the metro-east, but throughout Illinois.

But mention football and the records aren't as good. "Granite City just isn't a football town," they say.

But one man who's coached football in Granite City doesn't, and never will, believe that. His name is Keith Parker.

Parker, 42, is the "dean" of the Coolidge Junior High School Braves' football program. After 16 years of coaching on the junior high level, Parker has recently resigned his position to spend more time with his family.

Parker is succeeded by Vincenzo (Jim) DeLeonardis as Coolidge's football coach.

The amazing thing about Parker is he's succeeded in coaching football in a town that is self-admittedly not particularly known for its fine football programs. In few words, Parker and the Braves' grid program have beaten the "no-football" image in Granite City.

Only the third football coach the Braves have had for more than two consecutive years, Parker and his predecessors, Frank Kraus and John Tonnoff, have led Coolidge to a winning record which is enviable by nearly every grid coach.

In the 27 years since the program began in the fall of 1956, the Braves have amassed a record of 139-23-5, which works out to a winning percentage of .838. And, along the way, the Braves have rolled up an impressive 12 Madison Junior High School Conference Championships, the 13th coming in 1983 during its undefeated season.

It's A Way Of Life

"It's attitude," Parker said offering a simple explanation of the

"It's attitude. The program was successful early and then it kept rolling. Kids, or anyone for that matter, want to be on a winning team. I think that's been a big reason for the success of our program."

Braves' success. "The program was successful early and then it kept rolling. Kids, or anyone for that matter, want to be on a winning team. I think that's been a big reason for the success of our program."

Parker modestly declined to accept any credit for the Braves' success, but rather directed personal praise towards Kraus and Tonnoff.

"It's a lot easier to step into a winning program and maintain it rather than try to start a winning program from the ground up," Parker said.

A lot of the reason for the success of Coolidge's program has to be given to Frank (Kraus) and John (Tonnoff).

The reason Parker cited for the Braves' continued success on the gridiron is the long standing tradition of winning at the school. Whenever possible he reminds the young athletes that they should be proud to play on such a winning team.

"We remind them of Coolidge's great tradition from the first practice. We play on that tradition," Parker said.

Reminiscent of the recorded locker room talks by football great Vince Lombardi, Parker recalls the his "first day" address to a new crop of Coolidge griders.

"They're given a winning heritage," Parker said. "We tell them that their red jerseys may be old and tattered, but only because they were worn by the great championship teams which preceded them."

"That winning heritage is worth two touchdowns. Because of our winning tradition, they're given two touchdowns," Parker said of the undisputed advantage that having a winning program affords.

"So often, winning is a mental attitude. It was my goal to try and instill this winning mental attitude from the very beginning," Parker said.

Parker's winning attitude — the attitude he tries to instill into his athletes — is reflected in his coaching philosophy. Parker's philosophy is "very idealistic."

"I've always tried to teach more than just football," Parker began. "First and foremost, the No. 1 thing is to be a gentleman on and off the field. It's yes sir, no sir."

"They should play with the intensity to win, but winning isn't everything. They play for the team and they are better human beings for having played."

"We stress sports, yes, but academia is equally important. And finally, church, family and friends are no less important. Those things come before they do," Parker said.

Assessing his coaching philosophy and its effectiveness, Parker said he couldn't be happier with the years he's spent coaching at Coolidge.

"Looking back, I think there's a lot of reason to be proud. But, what means more to me than any of the winning records is the fact that in all the time I've been coaching there we've had only three unsportsmanlike conduct calls against us," Parker said. "I think that says a lot for the kind of athletes we've had."

The success that Parker has had with his Coolidge football squads is not surprising when more is learned about Parker and his past.

Parker entered the University of Missouri in the fall of 1941, playing for the then Big Six (now Big Eight) champion Tigers two years before the already-brewing World War II put his college education on hold. He didn't return to Columbia until after the war, in 1945.

In 1943 he left Columbia for the Marine officers' training camp which was then at Purdue. While at Purdue, the halfback-fullback Parker was one of 165 young men who turned out for Purdue's football team.

"You wouldn't believe the talent on that team. There were lettermen from every big school in the country," Parker said. The depth Purdue team finished 9-0 that year and emerged as co-national champions with Notre Dame.

In 1944, after finishing his stint at Purdue, Parker was assigned in Hawaii where he again found himself on the gridiron, only this time he was representing the Leathernecks.

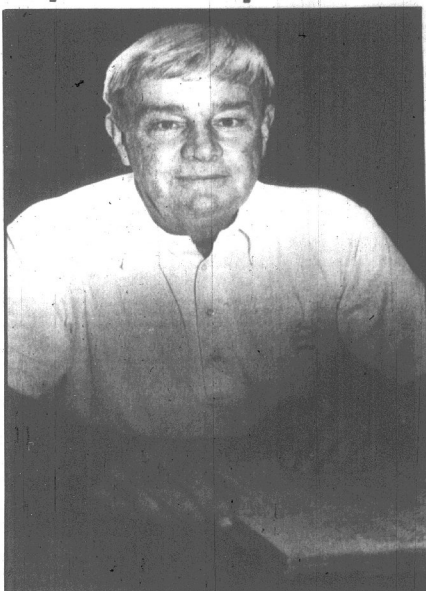

For two years, beginning in the fall of 1944, Parker was with the Pacific Fleet Marine Force Football Team.

Known as "Ace," because he wore No. 1 while at Missouri, Parker was regarded as one of the best college running backs of his time.

Making the headlines of newspapers in the Columbia, Mo., Lafayette, Ind., and the various military papers of the day, Parker received a lot of ink.

The Lafayette newspaper is quoted as assessing Parker in the following manner: "Keith is a six-footer who weighs 265 pounds. He can run and he loves to bang guys around."

The Columbia Missourian released a pre-season assessment of

Keith Parker

Parker in 1946, in his senior year and after Parker's stint with the Marines, that read: "Followers of the Tiger squad of '42, on first seeing Parker this year will notice a heavier but more polished player."

In '42 Keith was a fighting kid determined to work out his clumsiness and to perfect himself into a smooth operating ball totter. Since then, Parker, now 23, has mastered his faults and appears as confident and business-like backfield star.

In Hawaii, where he again found himself on the gridiron, only this time he was representing the Leathernecks.

The following year, 1948, he began his coaching career. Spending two years coaching in the Havana School District, Parker taught in two other districts before finding a home coaching in the Granite City School District in 1950.

Beginning his 29th year in the district, Parker has seen many young athletes come and go through Coolidge's doors.

"I've seen a lot of fine young men in my career. Some are now doctors, lawyers and others are policemen. It's nice to think that maybe I've helped make some of those people what they are," Parker said. "In that respect, we've been successful here, regardless of record."

Parker discussed frankly football in Granite City and its apparent rekindling interest.

"I think Granite City's new coach, Ron Yates, has a lot of the right ideas. He's got quite a job ahead of him — not only coaching, but changing the poor image of Granite City's high school football teams. Changing the image will be his biggest challenge."

"I'd say it's been some time since people have looked out across the breakfast table and said 'Boy, I bet Granite City's gonna beat the socks off such and such in tonight's football game,'" Parker said.

"But, it's attitude. And, I think he's got it," Parker said of Yates.

Cougars crunch alumni, 5-2

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE: For the first time in five years, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team convincingly defeated its former kickers in the annual Alumni Game here Sunday afternoon.

The score was 5-2, but really the three-goal margin doesn't really tell the full story of just how much Coach Bob Guelker's current varsity dominated the game from start to finish.

The current Cougars truly dominated, even though the Alumni had such current pro stars as Don Ebert, Greg "The Pace" Makowski, Tom Twellman and Bob Borzda, in their lineup. In fact, the high hopes generated by the Cougars' showing last week against a touring team of English semi-pros (lost by a 4-2 score) quickly took firm hold on the large crowdout to see the game. Defender Chris Hundelt got the Cougars on the board early on (7:17) when he took a pass from Bill Stallings and shoved the ball into the goal. But, the rout wasn't on yet as Steve Schell scored the equalizer for the Alumni unassisted at 44:52 when a covey of SIUE defenders all failed to "clear" the ball from in front of the goal.

Whatever it was that Guelker said to the SIUE varsity at the half-time rest proved to be productive as Dan Malloy scored in less than two minutes into the second half on a pass from Bill Stallings.

And, less than 10 minutes later and with the alumni players hardly getting their second wind, Bill Stallings, on a neat assist from Alton's John Stone, made the score 3-1.

Then less than four minutes later, the Cougar varsity increased its lead to 4-1 as Stallings bored in to score unassisted to run the count to 4-1. Malloy, taking a clever pass from Carl Hausmann, made it 5-1 at the 65-minute mark.

With just a little over eight (8:34) minutes left in the game, Don Ebert took some of the sting out of looking for the Alumni as he took a pass from Danny O'Keefe and booted the ball into the back of the net in one of his patented scoring plays. That was the final score and ended the game, 5-2, in favor of the 1984 edition of the SIUE soccer varsity team.

Friday night, the SIUE kickers will travel down to Cape Girardeau, Mo., to play the Southeast Missouri State U. Indians in both schools' regular season openers. It will be the first meeting in soccer for the schools.

In the alumni game, Granite City's Steve Trittschuh and Chris Hundelt, a pair around which Guelker is building a defense he hopes will carry the Cougars back into the post-season tourney battles, looked very sharp.

Again, Dave Cappetta looked impressive in goal for the Cougars. Brilliant games at midfield were registered, too, by team captain Leo Bourneuf, and his running mates, Carl Hausmann, and Tim Laughman. And, not too far behind at midfield are Mike Brown and Greg Koehler.

Offensively, in addition to Stallings and Malloy, were the moves the plays turned in by Bruce Bellinger, G. P. Boyer, Jim Appelbaum and Jim Jackson. Three other defenders, all youngsters, looked good against the talent-laden alumni. Don Henry, Peter Drew and John Gates.

In Softball Tournament American Legion captures city title

GRANITE CITY — After dropping the first game of the double-elimination tournament finals 25-9 to City Temple, the American Legion Post 307 bounced back to take the final game 8-4 to win the Granite City Park District City Championships.

American Legion, which was the only team with an unbeaten record as they entered Friday's play, fell behind early in the first game as City Temple, the top team from the loser's bracket, scored eight runs in the first inning and 11 in the second to take what proved to be an insurmountable lead.

The story was different in the se-

In Inter-City Baseball Chiefs win; McDonald's don't

GRANITE CITY — In the first round of the Inter-City Baseball League's playoffs Sunday at Wilson Park, the Blue Division Granite City Chiefs managed to stay in contention as they swept a double-header from the Metro-Wildcats, 10-4 and 8-1.

The victories improve the Chiefs' record to 12-20 overall on the season while posting a 10-7 record in their last games.

"We're still about a year away from where we'd like to be," said Chiefs' coach Dennis Gurkin. "We've had a strong second half of cond game, however, as the American Legion team capitalized on two good innings to score all eight of its runs and take the victory. Kent Bosworth was the winning pitcher in the game, while Jim Simmons added a homerun.

The American Legion team advanced to the finals Thursday night when they defeated City Temple 14-9 to send them into the loser's bracket.

The Chiefs' forfeited to City Temple in the loser's bracket final to send it into the championship round with American Legion.

In the second game, the Chiefs' Darrel Elmore pitched his way to victory, allowing the Wildcats just one run.

Winning the hot bats for the team tournament as it defeated Nameoki Village Auto Marine, 7-1.

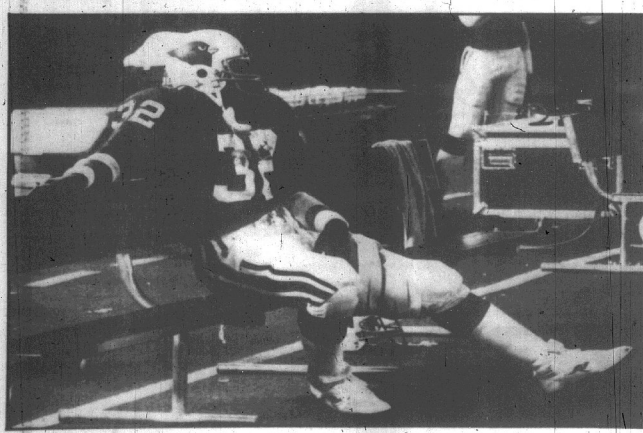

The one run that G & G Car Wash allowed in the tournament championship was its only run allowed during the entire tournament. During the week-long event, G & G Car Wash, which finished third in the Women's AA State Tournament this year, scored 62 runs in comparison to its competitors' one.

Nameoki Village Auto Marine reached the finals by emerging from the loser's bracket. It defeated Green's Confectionery 9-2 in the loser's bracket final to advance it into the game with G & G Car Wash.

The Chiefs will square off against the winner of the game the Cahokia Braves-East Alton Royals game next Sunday.

In other Inter-City action, the Brooklyn Robins, the winningest team in the league, eliminated McDonald's 8-2 and 11-4.

Granite City athletes should pace Leatherneck soccer squad

MACOMB — Western Illinois University's 1984 soccer team should begin to start serving notice that it will, in the future, be a team to be reckoned with.

With nine of 11 starters returning from a freshman oriented 7-12 team last season, junior forward Norman Christie of Jamaica, a 1983 COSIDA Academic All-American and the Leathernecks' leading scorer, and co-captain Tom Korte of Belleville, a senior goalkeeper who allowed only 14 goals per game last season, head the highly-talented contingent.

The WIU backfield returns with the team's most valuable player Joe Sopha of Des Plaines and Tony Segobiano of Granite City leading the way inside. Outside backs Barry Grote also of Granite City and Jeff Juhlin of Godfrey, both considered extremely tough performers, also return.

Midfielder John Menendez of Granite City is back, but his running mate and co-captain Steve Kampe has been lost to graduation.

Besides Christie, frontliners Tim Gaffigan of Peoria and Kevin Schmitt of Big Rock fill out the forward positions.

"Out of our 24 players on this year's roster, only 18 will make the traveling squad and everyone will have to fight it out for one of those positions," said 15 year veteran coach John MacKenzie.

MacKenzie believes the squad should possess excellent overall strength with a sound offense and stingy defense, but will have to find adequate backup in the net. "We might also have to shore-up our play at the midfield," said MacKenzie.

Besides the recruitment of eight excellent freshmen, MacKenzie's three junior acquisitions should bolster his lineup. That trio includes Bobby Crowe of St. Louis, Dave Adkisson of Morton Grove and Mark Jenig of Chicago. Crowe has returned following a stint in the military. Adkisson comes in from the junior college ranks and Jenig sat out last season for personal reasons.

MacKenzie, who enters the season with a 118-92-15 overall record, predicts that Eastern Illinois should be the team to beat in the AMCU 8 conference chase but adds "anyone can win this league which just happens to be one of the premier conferences anywhere in the Division I nation." During the regular season the Leathernecks will meet league foes Southwest Missouri State, Cleveland State University, Wisconsin-Green Bay and Illinois-Chicago. The Leathernecks could meet EIU in the annual Governor's Cup competition.

Other schedule notables includes the University of Wisconsin, Quincy College, Northeast Louisiana, St. Louis University, Illinois State, and Sangamon State.

The season opens at home on Thursday, Aug. 30, at 3:30 p.m. against Blackpool Tower of England and concludes on Tuesday, Nov. 6, at home against North East Louisiana.

Sports Odds and ends

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

There was a new hand at the controls of the electronic scoreboard at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer field Sunday afternoon as the Cougars played the final season warm-up game against their alumni squad.

Working the controls was Ed Kersting, director of the St. Louis C.Y.O. soccer program, the father of two former standout kickers, Jim and Rick.

Kersting has taken over from the veteran Bill Guelker, father of the Cougars' coach, the pool player-ordinance and one of the biggest boosters that youth soccer has ever had in the St. Louis area.

Mrs. Guelker, who never missed a game at Cougar Field for 15 years until failing health "benched" her last year, will be sorely missed by the working press at Cougar games, as will Bill.

HE FINALLY CATCHES ONE

Oliver (Ollie) Roderick, who recently retired from helping his two sons run the Roderick Restaurant in east Granite City, finally had a dream come true.

For too many years, he says, he'd tried to catch a bass in the lake by his home out at Arlington.

No luck, until last week.

Success at long last and picture by son, Ron, to prove it. It was a 3 1/2-pound bass.

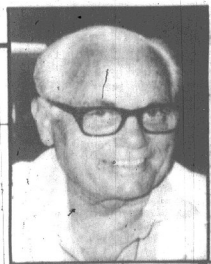

"Dad was really tickled to death," explained son Jerry. "Burning him up all through the years were the experienced fishermen who'd come in to the place and brag the catches they'd made and, on top of it all, have pictures to prove their stories." Jerry added.

PLAYS IN PRO-AM

Paul F. Sodko, president of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, recently participated in the Pro-Am division of Danny Thomas Open at the Colonial Golf Club in Memphis.

He was teamed with a group which included touring professional Chip Beck. Sodko and his group posted a six-under-par score to post a fifth place finish in the Pro-Am.

Beck, who ranked in the top 20 of PGA earnings and finished second in the Memphis tournament last year, just barely made the cut this year, and finished far down the prize list.

"Imagine, just playing with me one time fouled up his game that much," wryly said Sodko. But, he added: "Chip is one fine individual. He gave me a couple tips, but I'm afraid that I'll need more than that to improve my game. However, playing with Chip was a unique and pleasant experience," concluded Sodko.

Sodko, a native of Ashley graduated from SIU-Carbondale.

Riggins named honorary chairman for Nat'l Hunting & Fishing Day

John Riggins, record-breaking running back for the 1983 NFL Champion Washington Redskins, will serve as Honorary Chairman for National Hunting and Fishing Day, September 22.

"I'm very pleased to serve as honorary chairman for National Hunting and Fishing Day and to have the opportunity to let people know how important it is to conserve our natural and wildlife resources," Riggins said.

"A lot of folks don't realize that hunters and fishermen play a major role in our country's conservation efforts and, in fact, contribute millions of dollars each year to help all wildlife."

"Some people mistakenly think that all wildlife is endangered. That just isn't so," said Riggins.

"Because of scientific wildlife management and habitat acquisition programs financed mostly by hunters and fishermen, the populations of many wildlife species are larger today than they were in 1900."

That's quite an accomplishment.

As an example, Riggins pointed out that there are over 12 million white-tailed deer in the U.S. today, while in 1900 there were only 500,000.

Riggins also noted that programs supported by hunters and fishermen have led to dramatic comebacks of many other species such as elk, wood duck, pronghorn antelope and wild turkey. Over the years, sportsmen have contributed more than $5 billion for conservation programs, he added.

Riggins is an avid hunter and outdoorsman who began hunting as a boy. "When I was about 10, I used to trail along behind my dad when he went quail hunting," said Riggins. "My first gun was a single shot .22 rifle and later I got a single shot .110 shotgun."

On the football field, Riggins is one of the 11-time great running backs. He was named Most Valuable Player in 1982 for his performance during Super Bowl XVII when his team won the World Championship.

In 1983 he was winner of the Bert Bell award as the NFL Player of the Year.

September 22 will mark the 13th annual observance of National Hunting and Fishing Day. NHF Day was established by Congress in 1972 as a means of giving recognition to hunters and fishermen for their many contributions to conservation. National Hunting and Fishing Day is sponsored by more than 40 of the nation's leading conservation organizations, including the National Wildlife Federation, The Izaak Walton League and the Wildlife Society.

Each year between 10 and 14 million Americans participate in an estimated 2,500 separate NHF Day activities sponsored by sportsmen's clubs, conservation organizations and civic groups.

Additional information on National Hunting and Fishing Day and conservation is available from NHF Day Headquarters, P.O. Box 1075, Riverside, CT 06875.

GRANITE CITY — Bo Smith, the king of modified stock car racing at Tri-City Speedway, won the feature event Saturday night before a large crowd and tough field of competition.

Smith, of St. Charles, Mo., driving a 1984 Plymouth Arrow #17, chalked up his eighth feature event win of the season as he had tough sledding fighting off the continuous charging of Tom Utley, Kirkwood, Mo., Don Delish of High Ridge, Mo. and Scott Geschel of Collinsville.

But, the toll could not catch the Smith Super-Fly powered by a Smith built Chevy engine.

At the end of the 20-laps on the one-half mile track it was Utley second, Delish third, Geschel fourth. Utley took the heat race followed by Marty Smith of Cahokia. Smith won the trophy dash followed by Utley and Marty Smith. Marty Smith, doubling, driving the sportsman cars, won the feature event in that class, followed by Gary Leonard of Jacksonville, second and Bobby Geaux of Wilcox, third.

Marty Smith also took the trophy dash with Terry Krump, second. Steve Meyers took the heat race. Charlie Day of East Alton took the street stock feature, driving a Dodge Charger. He was followed by Rich Steyh of Cedar Hill, Mo. and Dennis Fisher, third. Steyh won the heat race followed by Day.

The street car race was won by Ken Terbrook of St. Charles, Mo. while the one-fourth midjet heat races were won by Freddie Surraack and Bruce Donaldson Jr., with King of the Hill going also to Donaldson.

Coming up at the Speedway on Saturday, Sept. 1, will be the U.S. Sprint Cars and the Mighty Midjets. Also a special event will be the Gateway Dirt Nationals for modifieds and sportsman on Oct. 6th and 7th.

Conservation Survey

DOC forecasts poor pheasant season

SPRINGFIELD — Projections based on the annual ring-necked pheasant survey indicate Illinois may face the lowest pheasant harvest since official estimates began in 1968, according to Mike Conlin, Chief of the Fish and Wildlife Division, Department of Conservation.

The upcoming 1984 harvest is estimated at 204,000 birds, 44 percent less than the 1983 harvest of 383,000, Conlin pointed out. The estimate is based on data collected by DOC wildlife biologists who each year survey 42 separate wildlife census routes located throughout the state.

Conlin explained that past projections based on the data have been extremely accurate. The latest pessimistic outlook, he said, is probably partly caused by the extremely frigid temperatures experienced during the winter of 1983.

"This isn't the only cause," Conlin emphasized. "It does reflect the continual erosion of wildlife habitat. The birds simply don't have the basic components of survival—food, cover for concealment from predators, protection from the cold and a place to nest."

"The pheasant population is near the all-time low and is increasingly vulnerable," Conlin said. "There are some exceptions. Pheasant call counts were much more optimistic in Mason, Christian, Logan and Lee counties."

Conlin compared the projected 1984 harvest of 204,000 with the glory years of 1962 and 1963 when Illinois hunters harvested more than one million pheasants each season. This occurred, he said, due to the now defunct Federal soil-bank program which paid farmers for undeveloped acreage.

"There is no quick and easy remedy for the current problem," Conlin said. "The habitat isn't out there to support a large wild pheasant population. The recent PIK (Payment in Kind) Program was a step in the right direction, but it was of such short term that it had little long range benefit."

"It should be noted that the 1983 harvest of 383,000 birds represented a 63 percent increase for the 1982 figure of 233,000 birds," he said. "This tremendous, if short-lived increase, must be attributed, at least in part, to the impact of the PIK program."

"There is a definite correlation between declining pheasant numbers and increased acreage under cultivation, particularly row crops. Since the disappearance of wildlife habitat is directly linked to the ongoing wind and water erosion robbing farmers annually of valuable top soil, it would appear that the sportsman and farmer should be allies in seeking out a long-term answer. If we don't, the prospects are grim, indeed."

New vanity license plates issued to truck, van owners

If you're wondering who is driving the vehicle with the vanity license plate, "GUNGHO," it's not likely. Milton Cummins of 2721 Idaho Ave. is one of 12 Quad-City area residents recently awarded new vanity license plates for small trucks and vans at the Illinois State Fair.

A lottery in Springfield this month helped determine the winners of nearly 3,800 new vanity license plates to be issued to small truck and van owners in Illinois, according to Secretary of State Jim Edgar.

Edgar, who kicked off the lottery at the fair, said that 521 drawings were conducted to determine the winners of plates for which there were more than one request. An additional 3,234 vanity plates for which there was a single request were awarded automatically.

"The truck vanity plate program has been even more successful than we anticipated," Edgar commented. "More than 5,400 requests for truck vanity plates were received. If most of these vehicle owners can get a plate they like, an additional $300,000 will be generated for the state road fund."

Vanity plates, which became available to automobile owners in 1980, were extended to small truck and van owners for the first time this year under legislation proposed by Edgar and adopted by the legislature in 1983.

"We proposed expanding the vanity plate program to small trucks and vans because of the popularity of the automobile program, which has raised more than $6 million for the road fund since it began," Edgar said.

He added that winners of the lottery will be notified by mail and sent instructions on how to apply for the plates assigned to them.

There is a one-time $75 fee for both car and truck vanity plates, plus an annual $10 fee which must be paid in addition to the annual registration fee.

There are still thousands of vanity plates available for small truck and van owners," Edgar stated. "Future requests will be handled on a first-come, first-served basis."

Edgar said the most frequently requested truck vanity plate, "TRUCK," for which there were 23 requests, was awarded to Raymond Grist of Urbana. There were 19 requests for the plate "PICKUP," which was awarded to Ronald Flessner of Chatsworth.

Quad-City area residents who were awarded vanity license plates for their small trucks and vans through the lottery or because of a single request include Alfred G. Dunaway, 2554 North St., with "DUNAWAY," George Melroy,

2669 Center St., with "GEOMAC," GG's Deli, 3800 Washington Ave., with "GODEL," Milton Cummins, 2721 Idaho Ave., with "GUNGHO," Richard H. Schmitt III, 91 Tulip Court, with "HISHER," this and her's, Andy's Auto Body and Towing Service, 1330 Madison Ave., with "ITOW" and "ITOWTWO" and Charles L. Hansen, 3137 Willow Ave., with "LOCHAS," "MYLADY" and "MRMS" (Mr. & Mrs.), Rommie's Sunoco, 3960 Ponton Road, Ponton Beach, was assigned the plate "RONNIES," Ronald Guenther, 736 E. Chain of Rocks

Road, Mitchell, with "RONALD," Steve Slamps, 5001 Lakeview Drive, with "STUMPER," "STUMPY" and "STUMP," Madison Fire Chief Michael L. Macek, 1600 Fourth St., Madison, with "MACEK," and John D. Hagen Jr., 3205 Rodger Ave., with "JDHLR."

Q: We still get a trifle confused when it comes to finance charges and annual percentage rates. What's the difference?

A: Unfortunately, these terms do lend themselves to confusion. Finance charges, basically, are the total of all the charges you pay when you obtain credit. This includes interest, loan fees, finder's fee, points, service charges and any amount paid as a discount. Not included are taxes, license fees, some real estate closing costs and some legal fees. The annual percentage rate, or APR, on the other hand, is the basic tool with which the cost of all types of credit can be measured and compared. This is the basic interest rate paid to the lender when money is borrowed. Essentially, it is a simple annual rate of interest relating the finance charge to the amount of money you receive on credit, as well as the time you have the money as stipulated in the contract. This can be a very useful piece of information because, armed with it, you are able to compare the terms offered by various lenders.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Tempel

Tempel-Kunstman

Miss Karen J. Kunstman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kunstman of Belleville, and Kevin L. Tempel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Tempel Sr. of Granite City, were united in marriage on Aug. 4 at the First United Presbyterian Church in Belleville, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Niedringhaus to hear Jews for Jesus speaker

What do the Jewish Passover and Jesus' Last Supper have in common? Bob Mendelshon, staff evangelist with Jews for Jesus, will answer that question as he presents "Christ in the Passover" at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, on Sunday, Sept. 2, at both the 8:30 and 10:30 services. Rev. Louis Frick announces.

The purpose of the "Christ in the Passover" presentation is to enhance the Christian understanding of the New Testament by showing a Jewish background for the communion celebration. Ancient and modern Jewish customs are discussed and described with an emphasis on the aspect of redemption that Christ accomplished at Calvary.

A table will be set with the traditional Jewish Passover items including representative foods which are explained, but not eaten. Members of the Jews for Jesus group have given this demonstration in more than 1,000 different churches.

Some of the most important elements of Christian doctrine, such as the Trinity, the principle of substitutionary atonement, and salvation through a personal relationship with the Messiah, are implied in the Seder (Passover feast) as observed by the Orthodox Jews even today.

Those attending the special "Christ in the Passover" program at Niedringhaus Church will have an opportunity to learn more about what Jews for Jesus has planned by way of evangelism nationwide. The program is open to the public and Mendelshon will be available to answer questions.

National, Kokan officials pledge merger will bring strength

At last Wednesday's signing of documents selling half of National Steel Corporation to Nippon Kokan K.K. of Japan, the officers of both corporations commented on the marriage and its implications. Portions of the comments by each follow.

HOWARD M. LOVE National Steel Board Chairman

"During the nearly four months since NII and Kokan announced our intention to form this international joint venture, NII, Kokan and National Steel teams have spent many long hours together working out the details of the agreement we will sign here today. I want to publicly express NII's and National Steel's sincere appreciation for the diligence and cooperation of all Kokan personnel during the final negotiations. They were persistent and understanding."

"The spirit of cooperation that has developed confirms my belief that we indeed have a knowledgeable and dedicated partner that will help make National Steel a world class steel competitor in America. In all of my 27-year career in the steel business, never have I felt more confident of our ability to make National Steel stronger and its future more secure."

"The basic elements of the definitive agreement we will sign today have not changed from those which we jointly announced on April 24th in Pittsburgh and Tokyo. Nippon Kokan will obtain a 50 percent equity ownership of NII's formerly wholly owned subsidiary, National Steel Corporation. In exchange, National Intergrupp will receive $273 million in cash and $19 million in notes. NII has agreed to assume responsibility for payment of liabilities of National Steel which are related to the recent sale of the former Weirton Steel division to the division's employees. Kokan will assume the remaining portion of an status. "With an equal investment in National Steel, Nippon Kokan has an equal interest in seeing National advance, prosper and grow. Kokan's technological leadership is admired by steelmakers the world over. Our mutual goal is to make National Steel a showcase for steelmaking in America utilizing the latest technology to improve yield, quality, productivity and service to our customers."

"National Steel will be operated as a stand-alone company, self-contained and self-sufficient. It will be guided by strategies and plans approved by both NII and Kokan. It will be operated by its present 12,500 employees, and a new full-time Kokan employee, principally technical specialists and a few staff persons who will work side by side with National's current employees. Kokan also will provide project teams as needed to work on special assignments."

"National Steel Corporation will have its own board of directors, equally represented by NII and Nippon Kokan. For NII, I will be chairman of the board. Other NII members of National Steel's new board are James E. Haas and Richard S. Smith. The management of National Steel will be focused in an "Office of the President," with Robert D. McBride continuing as president. I believe we have an experienced management team that will guide the future development of National Steel."

"The success of any business venture is ultimately measured by the benefits it brings to those persons whose lives it touches."

"For our employees, we intend to make National Steel a better place to work, through greater participation and involvement by them in the business — through the use of more sophisticated tools and techniques so that they can do their job better — by being successful so that they can percent of National Steel Corp., an NII subsidiary, to Nippon Kokan. The signing ceremonies were last Wednesday in Pittsburgh, Pa.

on their investment. These are our goals. These are our commitments."

MINORU KANAO Nippon Kokan president

"We are here today — to affix the signatures of National Intergrupp and Nippon Kokan to documents signifying the formation of an alliance of those two corporations. This alliance to jointly own and operate National Steel Corp. is one of the first and largest of its kind, and I am extremely pleased to be here to address you on this historic occasion."

"Kokan has had a long and rewarding relationship with National Steel through various programs of "The steel industry has certainly made major contributions to the development of the Japanese economy. And it was technology exchanges between the steel industries of the United States and Japan that played an important role in the development of the Japanese steel industry. Today, the steel business of both nations faces severe circumstances, and it is only through cooperation such as that which we are here to consummate today, that we will be able to survive."

"It was with this in mind that Kokan began plans for involvement in production within the U.S., and for an opportunity to make a contribution to its steel industry and to its economy. Now, we have been given this chance. With today's events, the steel industry has become the stage for showing the world just how well the peoples of these two nations can work together."

"Nippon Kokan is proud to be working together with National Intergrupp. We are proud to be a part of National Steel," Kanano concluded.

JAMES E. HAAS NII president

"I, too, share the highest level of confidence that this joint venture will continue to benefit from the very close cooperative spirit we have built during our negotiations. The process we have been through to reach this day not only served the purpose of completing the transaction, but also developed valuable personal relationships between Nippon Kokan and National Steel people. This will be particularly important as we move forward in the day-to-day business of building National Steel into a stronger company — a company that can compete more effectively in a very competitive international business environment."

"It is no accident that the negotiations between our two companies were able to be completed successfully in such a short period of time. This partnership really does fit the needs of both partners. In our earliest informal meeting, we spent a lot of time talking about our mutual needs, our similarities and the synergies that a close relationship could unleash. We talked about the goals and missions of our respective companies. I remember one meeting many months ago when we drew a grid chart of the needs of both companies. And I think we all were surprised to find how much we had in common."

"We both recognized the need to be on the leading edge of technology and new materials development. Kokan has the technological know-how that National Steel's plants need to give them the edge in the years ahead. With Nippon Kokan, we can move National Steel forward faster than we could have by ourselves."

"Kokan is heavily involved in the automotive and other major sheet steel markets — the same markets National Steel serves. Their technology fits National Steel's production processes and market needs. Both of us are market-driven and customer-oriented companies. We have shared some technology for a number of years. Now we can share all of our technology on a true partnership basis."

"Over the years, Kokan has learned much from National Steel about new product development, and we have learned much from them. Now we can work together pooling our product development and product application resources and knowledge. Our mutual goal is to develop materials that will meet the needs of future products which will focus the best creative talents and expertise of both companies on one objective — to build a more competitive, more productive and more prosperous National Steel," Haas said.

HARUKI KAMIYA Kokan executive vice president

"I would like to begin my remarks by emphasizing that National Steel Corporation is, and will continue to be, a native American company, and Nippon Kokan fully intends to respect it as such. As part of NSC's management, we also hope to work with Americans as American management."

"Of course, as Mr. Haas pointed out, we will be bringing to bear the best creative talents and expertise of both parent companies in order to put even more vitality into National Steel's activities."

"However, to improve its competitive position and prepare itself to face the tough international markets, perhaps it will be necessary for NSC to return to the basics of what it means to be an individual, free-standing corporation. The parent organizations, also, may have to learn to discard some of the bad habits the United States and Japan may have picked up along the way and work hard together to build a greater NSC."

"It was America that taught the world the meaning of free enterprise. It was in this very city that people like Andrew Carnegie and Andrew Mellon taught us the basics that built world industry. Perhaps this great tradition has now become a little lost among all the changes we have faced. Perhaps it is now time to move back in the direction of the spirit that developed free enterprise which we so depend upon for the health of our economies."

"This is a country with tremendous power and potential. I don't mean to be frivolous, but I was very impressed with its success in the recent Olympics. I hope that we can rely on these strengths in our effort to make a contribution to its steel industry."

"Finally, as has already been mentioned, I will become the vice chairman of NSC. Of course, even though, as a Japanese, there will be many cultural difficulties for me, I hope to be able to spend much time getting to know the workers of NSC. And even though I may not always be able to, physically, out there in the mills, it is to the workers that I pledge my unstinting dedication to National Steel."

"I would also like to personally thank Mr. Love and Mr. Haas for their great sincerity and cooperation in seeing this transaction to its close. The mutual trust and respect between these two gentlemen and Kokan's chairman, Mr. Makita, and Mr. Kanano, has borne great fruits and I am sure that it will continue to do so," he said.

technical exchanges, so we are no strangers to each other. I, myself, have been impressed with the fine executives, such as Messrs. Love, Haas, Smith and McBride, who have built National into the excellent organization it is. NSC's modern facilities and quality products are ample proof of their dedication to its customers and the industry as a whole. These are the things that attracted us to this organization."

"We firmly believe that through the combining of the very best management and technology the U.S. and Japan have to offer, NSC can only continue to improve, becoming not merely the best steel company in the United States, but also truly a world-class steelmaker."

"Already, we have begun to work together on specific projects. For example, last February, National Steel announced that it would build an electrolytic galvanizing line at the Great Lakes Steel division near Detroit. Originally, we intended to use certain technology developed by another foreign steel company. Now, the galvanizing line will be constructed as a joint project, with Kokan providing more advanced technology for some key equipment, and National Steel's staff doing the engineering. The result will be a much better facility. We expect to break ground and begin construction of the galvanizing line this fall. It will produce 400,000 tons per year of superior corrosion-resistant steels for use in exposed body panels on American automobiles."

"Another example of how we are going to work together is in the technical area. Within the new National Steel, we will establish a technical coordinating and planning department. It will be headed by a vice president and staffed by both Kokan and National Steel people. This department will mesh the finest Kokan technology into the process and product development efforts of National Steel. In this way, we will

SIUC professor investigates farmland irrigation project

By GORDON BILLINGSLEY

Southern Illinois is on the verge of a boom in farmland irrigation, a leading irrigation expert contends.

Max C. Jensen, a visiting professor in the Southern Illinois University-Carbondale (SIUC) School of Agriculture, said Southern Illinois has the need and the water to make irrigation a big business within five to 10 years.

"SOUTHERN ILLINOIS gets more rainfall than it loses, but it doesn't fall when crops need it most," he said. "Most of the rain around here falls in the winter. All that's needed is a way to hold that rainfall until it's needed."

Since ground water supplies in Southern Illinois probably could not support irrigation, Jensen believes the large number of lakes in the area — coupled with the potential for new lakes — could provide the needed water storage.

One source of water could be lakes created by surface mining, Jensen said.

IN WESTERN states, rising demand has created competition for water between farmers and urban areas, Jensen said. Urban areas generally require roughly the same amount of water as irrigated land.

Southern Illinois, however, has no major metropolitan center and that would help avoid fights over water rights.

In addition, he said, "There's no particular reason to worry about the quality of the water used for irrigation. It doesn't have to be fit to drink to be a good water source for crops. Crops don't uptake the bacteria that normally would make water unfit for humans."

JENSEN SAID the irrigation requirement for Southern Illinois crops is about 12 inches of water per acre each summer. That means a 100-hundred-acre field would use the water supplied by a 10-acre lake that averaged 10 feet deep.

Irrigation in Illinois has grown from 50,000 acres more than 150,000 acres within the last three years, Jensen said. He said he expects that growth rate to speed up.

Jensen, who worked at SIUC for three months, planned a course in irrigation to be taught at SIUC and helped design and set up irrigation demonstrations on the SIUC farms.

THE DEMONSTRATIONS are part of an International Training and Demonstration Center. "We want the center to be a chance for our international students to get some hands-on experience with irrigation, which is so important in many other nations," he said.

"But we also want our own Illinois students to become more familiar with irrigation because we're convinced it will become increasingly important with time," he said.

Jensen's plans call for most of the major types of irrigation to be applied. They include furrow (or open ditch) irrigation, siphon tube, level furrow, with gated pipe and center pivot systems — the huge "walking" mechanical sprayers.

DRIP IRRIGATION — in which water drips slowly, but continuously — may be an option for some orchardists, Jensen said. And, some bottomland farmers may also want to explore what's called sub-irrigation, in which water is pumped into underground pipes to raise the water table.

Jensen, an agricultural engineer who has designed and planned major irrigation systems in areas as diverse as Idaho and Indonesia, is a former professor at Washington State University. He is a consultant and often serves as an expert witness in irrigation-related lawsuits.

Chinese government seeks help from BAC professor

Dr. Mak, coordinator for Belleville Area College's (BAC) Aviation Maintenance Technology Program, will travel to the People's Republic of China later this year to help the Chinese government set up their equivalent of the Federal Aviation Administration.

Mak will assist with the aviation maintenance portion of the test. He has been given a leave of absence from BAC for the trip and hopes to leave in September.

BAC PRESIDENT Dr. Bruce R.

Wissore is proud of Mak's invitation. "We have an excellent aviation maintenance program, worthy of note on an international basis," he said. "This recognition makes us feel very proud."

Dr. Robert Eskridge, BAC Academic Dean, agreed. "This is a compliment to BAC and to Dr. Mak," he said.

Mak was born in Hong Kong. He has been with BAC for 15 years and started its aviation maintenance program.

Computer courses slated at SIUE

ALL CLASSES will be conducted in Room 054 of Lovejoy Library. The schedule of courses includes: Sept. 28 to Oct. 20, Introduction to LOGO, Saturdays, 9:30 to 12:30 p.m.; Sept. 30 to Oct. 21, Introduction to Microcomputer, Saturdays, 1 to 4 p.m.; Oct. 1 to 22, Introduction to BASIC, Mondays, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.; Oct. 2 to 23, Word Processing (Using Applewriter), Tuesdays, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Free motorcycle courses slated

BAC is finding jobs for graduates of welding program

Belleville Area College (BAC) graduates in the welding program are finding jobs.

Central Mine Equipment Co. of St. Louis, has hired seven BAC welding students since March.

GLENN MILLER, CME's plant manager, who hired the graduates said he couldn't be happier. "We have one individual from BAC working here who is very good," Miller said. "Glenn Kimbrell, the coordinator of the welding program at BAC, called me just at the right time. I had openings."

Kimbrell, always on the lookout for job openings for his students, called Miller when he heard that CME was hiring. "I keep up my contacts with the material suppliers," he said. "They usually know when companies are taking applications."

As soon as I hear about openings, I call the company and then start calling students. There are jobs out there if students are willing to go after them."

Lawrence Reno of Belleville, a graduate of the welding program, went after a welding job, then led his employer to BAC.

MICHAEL HENGES of Henges Manufacturing in St. Louis had placed a want ad in the paper for a welder.

"Reno applied and we had to make sure he was certified," Henges said. "He told us to contact Glenn Kimbrell and we did. He was a real help to us. Next time we need a welder, BAC will be the first place we go."

Miller also appreciated Kimbrell's help with finding good job applicants. "He (Kimbrell) sent some guys over," Miller said. "They were very clean-cut, polite young men. We gave them a test over here and they knew their welding."

"OF ALL THE technical schools we hire from, I believe that the kids coming out of Belleville know their stuff. They have an excellent welding program there."

Technical expertise in welding is not the only advantage in hiring a BAC graduate. "In addition to knowing their stuff, these kids are hard-working and anxious to do a good job," Miller said. "BAC is a good place to get qualified people."

CME employs about 30 welders. Seven of them, all from BAC, have been hired since March.

"GARNER is doing a heck of a good job," Miller said. "Whatever you are doing over there, keep on doing it. We do some pretty sophisticated welding over here and they do it perfectly."

For information on the welding program, students may contact Kimbrell, at 1-235-2700, extension 378 or 252.

Five judo classes scheduled at BAC

JUDO STUDENTS who have completed the beginning class or have green belts may take Coed Kodokan Judo II, offered from 5 to 6:30 p.m. Thursdays.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a seller and buyer enter into a contract for the sale of real estate, the question is often asked as to the options available when one of the parties subsequently refuses to proceed with the sale. Generally speaking, either the seller or buyer can seek specific performance in this situation, which would result in a court order requiring the parties to proceed with the sale. They can also ask for monetary damages, which would require the party who breached the contract to pay the other person money in order to compensate him for his loss. An example will help to illustrate this situation.

Let's assume that the seller and buyer sign a real estate contract providing that the seller's home will be sold for $80,000.00 with the sale to close on December 15. On December 1, the buyer informs the seller that he has decided not to buy the home since he has found another home which he likes better. The buyer in this situation goes ahead and purchases the second home, and the seller, who is being transferred out of the area, moves away without ever having sold his home.

In the preceding example, the seller could ask the court to force the buyer to proceed with the sale. This is called specific performance, and the buyer in his case could wind up as the proud owner of two homes. The seller can also ask the court in the alternative to award him damages. It should be noted that the seller here has a duty, if he is seeking monetary damages, to attempt to continue to list his home for sale or rent. This is known as a duty to mitigate or lessen his damages.

If in our example, he eventually sells the home for $76,000.00, he would no longer ask the court for specific performance to force the original buyer to purchase the home but rather would then be seeking $4,000.00 in damages. This is the difference in the original sale price and the subsequent sale price and represents the amount of money he lost as a result of this buyer's breach of contract. If the seller backed out of the sale, the same remedies would be available to the buyer in that he could ask the court to force the sale to proceed or ask the court for money.

State BPW president issues challenges to Gateway club

Change the pressures of today's society into possibilities. Salvation Army Major Bonnie Marshall of Oak Park, president of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, urged members of the new Gateway BPW Club at its chartering luncheon last week.

"Challenge you to make the most of those pressures or possibilities and change those pressures into possibilities. In the last few years, the Business and Professional Women's organization has stepped out and changed our direction."

"Through the national news media, we have now become recognized and Congressmen and other national leaders are learning we are a force to be reckoned with," the IFBW president said.

Major Marshall said the goal this year is for five new BPW clubs to be established by the Illinois Federation, which has 3,500 members.

With the chartering of the new Gateway BPW Club, she noted, "We have one down and four more to go, and you are helping to accomplish what we set out to do."

New clubs also may be formed in another Southern Illinois community in the Springfield, Chicago and Waukegan areas, Major Marshall advised.

Nearly 100 BPW members and guests attended the chartering luncheon at Charlie's Restaurant, including state and district BPW leaders and representatives from 17 BPW clubs.

Among the dignitaries were Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, City Clerk Robert W. Stevens, and Aldermen Paul Ray Bowler, Steve Saltsch and Sharon Perjak. The latter is a member of the new club.

Other speakers were Belleville Alderman Sam Gilley, Gene Alsies, retired art consultant for Granite City School District, and Dan Todoroff, retired Granite City High School North band director.

A musical interlude was provided by Amerik Kachigian, who was accompanied at the piano by Valerie Stevens. The program was presided over by Helen Abbott, of O'Fallon, District XIV director, and the invocation was offered by Rev. Stephen, interim president of the new club.

M. Fleda Doolin of Carbondale, past state president, gave the color guard as Nash introduced the Pledge of Allegiance. The BPW emblem ceremony was presented by Nancy Clark of Flora, IFBW first vice president.

A response to the greetings was given by Sonja Charness of Roselle, IFBW second vice president.

The city's three members participated in the induction ceremony, conducted by Betty Kelley of Alton, IFBW membership chairman.

Care and certificates were presented the new members by Mary Lou Malwitz of Collinsville and Linda Betz of Chicago, co-chairman of the IFBW Expansion Committee.

M. Annabel Woodring of Collinsville, Illinois BPW Federation president-elect, conducted the installation of officers.

Those charged with leading the club in its initial year are: Barbara Hodges, president, Valerie Evenden, vice president, Barbara Young, secretary, and Donna Kim-bro, treasurer.

Major Marshall presented the club charter to Mrs. Hodges, who introduced her family and personal guests and spoke briefly concerning the future of the new organization.

The new Gateway BPW President was the recipient of several gifts from various BPW clubs and friends.

Also among the guests were Catherine Burton and Anna Holland, past state presidents. Mrs. Holland also is a member of the Young Careerist Committee of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

BPW clubs represented at the luncheon, included Granite City, Fairview-Edgemoor, Alton Area, moderated by Belvidere, Highland, Cahokia, East St. Louis, Belle East 21, Broadview, Collinsville, Carbondale and Newton.

Concert Review
Crosby, Stills & Nash — a class act at The Mundy

By PATRICK FOLEY of the Press-Record

"Opening with 'Love the One You're With,' Crosby, Stills and Nash quickly convinced the audience at The Mundy Thursday night of the kind of concert it was going to be."

"It's going to be a good night!" Graham Nash exclaimed amid applause at the end of the Stephen Stills song. And a good night it was. More than 11,500, just 30 tickets shy of a sellout, filled the outdoor amphitheater in Forest Park for the concert by the trio that got its start, 13 years ago last week, at Woodstock. The performance is part of the "Starfish II" series produced by The Mundy.

Maintaining the momentum of their first number, Nash shifted to the baby grand piano and sang "Chicago."

"CSN" classics were the mainstay of the concert, intermixed with new material. "Stranger," the new Crosby, Stills and Nash album, and several political statement songs of Nash's dealing with voting and nuclear waste in the oceans.

One number performed by the trio was a song by our favorite group, as Nash introduced it. Played on acoustic guitar by Stills, the three sang "Blackbird" by The Beatles.

During the evening, David Crosby sang "Almost Cut My Hair," and the trio sang an old Buffalo Springfield classic, "For What It's Worth," another Stills composition. CSN also performed "Suite: Judy Blue Eyes," featuring Stills on acoustic guitar, "Wooden Ships," "The Lee Shore" and "Cathedral."

The two-hour-plus concert was ended with two encores, the first was "Carry On," followed by "Teach Your Children." The latter a sing-along by the audience, as many of the CSN classics were highlighted with a chorus sung a cappella.

Crosby, Stills and Nash brought through their smooth and enthusiastic performance that, unlike some of their contemporaries, 15 years have had little effect on their unique style, and the passage of time doesn't antiquate a classic act.

Definitely a four-star performance by a "three-star" group.

Upcoming concert in the "Starfish II" series at The Mundy include Wayne Jennings on Aug. 31, The Go-Go's on Sept. 4, James Taylor and Randy Newman on Sept. 4. Tickets for all of the concerts are available at all Mundy ticket outlets.

Knights begin fund-raising to help mentally retarded

Illinois Knights of Columbus have begun preparations for their 15th annual fund-raising drive to aid mentally retarded individuals. The drive is scheduled for Oct. 26 and 27 throughout the state.

Last year the Knights raised $12 million to benefit the mentally retarded, and this year Co-chairmen Ronald A. Ziembra of Mt. Prospect and Jack E. Collins of Maitland expect to top that record year with collections in excess of $1.25 million.

Since the program was launched in 1970, Illinois Knights have raised more than $9.7 million for the mentally handicapped.

This is one of three statewide charitable projects promoted by the Illinois Knights, and it is supervised by State Charitable Activities Director Gus Sundermeier Sr., of Oak Lawn.

K of C charitable activities, in addition to the mentally retarded aid program, include the Catholic Fraternal Society's Newman Apostolate program established on secular campuses in the state and the Knights' State Disaster Fund.

Ziembra has announced that the '84 drive will be enhanced by a series of radio and television promotions featuring TV personality Bob Newhart. The theme for the drive is "Caring more is our business."

Ziembra says he is confident that the $1.25 million goal will be attained because of greater public acceptance of the program and an expanded public relations program.

Nearly all the money collected during the two-day drive is returned to the community from which it was collected. Last year, local councils made substantial contributions to the sheltered workshops, special schools, associations and mentally retarded organizations in their Illinois communities, Ziembra noted.

In spite of a slowly recovering economy in the central and southern parts of Illinois, Ziembra says, the Knights' collections for the mentally handicapped last year equaled or exceeded totals of the previous year. The Diocese of Belleville surprised fund-raisers' most optimistic predictions with an 11 percent increase over 1983, some $100,600 in donations.

Under the terms of the program, 10 percent of the gross collected each year is placed in a special fund earmarked for major mentally handicapped aid projects. The fund, entitled K of C Charities, Inc., is governed by guidelines set up in compliance with the Internal Revenue Code. Illinois' attorney general's office and directives from the Knights' national headquarters in New Haven, Conn.

For several years, the Knights sponsored a lead-detecting mobile program conducted by the Illinois Association for Retarded Citizens to check youngsters for possible ingestion of lead. More recently, the K of C has been donating substantial sums of money to the Illinois Special Olympics, helping defray the cost of the organization's winter and summer games.

The candy product used in "selling" the program, plus minimal promotional expenses, are the only monies not placed in a charitable trust, according to Ziembra. Upon request from a local council, money is donated to specified community mentally retarded aid organizations.

Volunteers from many of the community mentally handicapped aid groups, as well as students and members of K of C families, will be working intersections and highways Oct. 26 and 27, waving canisters and wearing numbered yellow jackets bearing the words, "Knights of Columbus Help Mentally Retarded Children."

Fall tree sale

The Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District is now taking orders for tree seedlings. The species available are Colorado Blue Spruce, Norway Spruce, and Eastern White Pine. Because of the dense, vigorous, year-round foliage of Spruces and Pines, they are excellent for windbreaks and do well in Illinois.

These are 2-2 transplants and range in height from 12 to 16 inches and will be sold for $1 each on a first-come, first-served basis. There is a minimum order of 10.

Orders should be placed now to reserve your selections. The seedlings are to be picked up on Saturday, Oct. 13, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the District Office on Old Alton Road in Edwardsville. Planting instructions and related information will be available on the day of pick-up.

Interested persons may contact the Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District at Post Office Box 482, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025, or phone 1-656-5166.

Directory of art fairs is being offered

The Illinois Arts Council (IAC) is preparing its annual directory of art fairs held throughout the state. For information on the 1985 listing, interested persons may contact Rose Parikh, Artist Division, IAC, 111 N. Wabash, Chicago, Ill. 60602, telephone 1-312-793-6750. Forms must be completed and returned to the IAC by Nov. 1.

The Illinois Arts Council is a state agency that provides grants and technical assistance to community arts agencies, individual creative artists and not-for-profit organizations presenting arts programming.

Balloon racers to lift off Sept. 15

Bold splashes of color will fill the sky as more than 50 hot air balloons participate in the 12th annual Great Forest Park Balloon Race on Saturday, Sept. 15.

The format of the race will be the traditional "Hare and Hounds" race, with professional pilots from all over the county pursuing the 7-Up "Hare" balloon.

The balloonmeister for the eighth year will be Henry Felt, president of The Great Forest Park Balloon Race, Inc.

Lift-off will take place at 4:45 p.m. by the "Hare" balloon, piloted by St. Louisan Mel Hanson, from the nine-hole golf course in Forest Park near Lindell and Skinker. This was the site of "The Pike," the famous midway of the 1904 World's Fair.

"Balloon" race officials say the event, which attracts some of the most famous pilots in the sport of ballooning, is the largest event of its kind. The sport began in St. Louis in 1884 and many Gordon Bennett World Championship Balloon races were conducted there during the early part of the century. Most of these races were distance and duration events, featuring helium-filled balloons.

This year, using the hot air, propane-heated balloons, will average less than two hours and, depending on the winds, will cover 10 to 20 miles. The balloon landing closest to the "Hare" will be declared the winner.

A noon-time parade of the balloonists and their equipment through downtown St. Louis on Friday, Sept. 14, will kick off the weekend event. The parade will conclude with a press conference at Kiener Plaza.

Residents of the city will get a preview Friday when the balloonists do a fly-over from various launch sites within the city, beginning at 5 p.m., weather permitting.

On Saturday, the festivities will begin with a band concert at 2 p.m., followed by the O. J. Photo Contest on the field at 2:30 p.m.

A parachute jumping exhibition will be held at 4 p.m. and the actual race will begin at 4:45 p.m., when the signal is given to launch the "Hare" balloon and to start the cold air inflation fans for the "Hounds."

Traditionally, the third weekend in September has afforded ideal flying conditions, but the 1983 event was spoiled by high winds for the first time in the history of the race.

If weather does not permit the race to be held on Saturday, the same schedule will be followed on Sunday.

Live reports of the balloon race will be aired on KMOX Radio.

The Great Forest Park Balloon Race attracts more than 125,000 spectators and is sponsored by The Great Forest Park Balloon Race, Inc., the Department of Parks and Recreation of the city of St. Louis, and by the 7-Up Company and other major sponsors.
